» “Frank Ponterio Interior Design has entered a very exciting phase in its history; we are working with some of the best architects, landscape architects and clients in the industry, and we’re having a great time doing it.”

Award-winning interior designer Frank Ponterio of Frank Ponterio Interior Design meets every project with a discerning appreciation for details and a philosophy grounded in superior design, which he has honed over the course of more than 20 years in the industry. Ponterio’s background in architecture, construction and historic preservation allows him to complete projects in a way that always keeps fine craftsmanship and longevity in focus. “I appreciate even the smallest details and see the significance in quality workmanship in a way that many others cannot,” Ponterio says. What sets Ponterio apart from others is his process—he champions a timeless approach to design that always has each client’s lifestyle in mind.

FPID’s high standards recently earned the firm the opportunity to renovate architect David Adler’s masterpiece, the Kersey Coates Reed home. More recent forays into commercial, community and hospitality design—including country clubs in Highland Park and Lake Forest, as well as a boutique hotel—have received overwhelmingly positive responses as well.

Ponterio debuted his second furniture collection, The Frank Ponterio Collection for Avertt, last year, and each piece was designed with Ponterio’s signature high-end finishes and luxe details. “I have a fondness for the authenticity and refinement of finely tuned workmanship,” he says. “Basically, all things that have been thoughtfully designed.” The ASID and IIDA member lives in Lake Forest with his wife and daughter. 500 N.
